AGVS announces a $1 million prize!

The American giant AGVS announced yesterday that it is offering a $1 million prize for the first person who can take a photo proving that Nessie – the Loch Ness monster – exists. Next month, AGVS is launching a new video game based on the search for Nessie and this is its way of publicising the game.

Is this what Nessie looks like?

It seems like a lot of money to spend on publicity, but Jack Stein, the company president, says, "People have often tried to photograph Nessie. But what can we see in these photos? Usually pieces of wood, say the experts. And some of the photos are deliberate fakes. I'm not saying that Nessie doesn't exist, but I'm convinced that no one's going to prove anything." AGVS's announcement has been welcomed by businesses in the Loch Ness area. "It's going to attract hundreds of visitors," said a local souvenir shop owner. "We don't normally do much business in the winter months – so this is really good news!"
