'The Enola Holmes Mysteries' is a series of books by Nancy Springer about a girl detective in Victorian England. Two of the books were made into films by Netflix. Read the text below and answer the questions.

An unusual British family

Enola Holmes is fourteen years old. She lives in England with her mother. Enola doesn't have a sister but she has two older brothers, Sherlock and Mycroft. Sherlock lives in London. He works as a detective and is very famous.

Enola's life is unusual. She doesn't go to school. Her hair is long and dirty. She likes reading books and climbing trees. She doesn't like wearing dresses. In the first book, Enola's mother disappears. Enola is very sad and worried. She wants to look for her mother but Sherlock says, "No." He wants Enola to go to school in the countryside but she doesn't want to go. In secret, she goes to London.

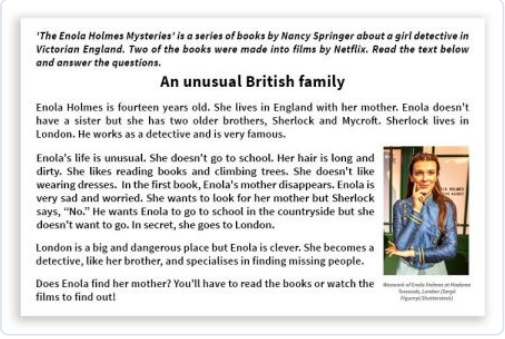

London is a big and dangerous place but Enola is clever. She becomes a detective, like her brother, and specialises in finding missing people.

Does Enola find her mother? You'll have to read the books or watch the films to find out!
