Walt Disney

Walt Disney was born in Chicago in 1901. As a boy, Walt enjoyed drawing, which eventually led him to become a professional animator. He moved to California and began making his own animated films. In 1928, Walt created his most famous character: Mickey Mouse. Walt drew Mickey and used his own voice in the cartoons!

The success of the Mickey Mouse cartoons encouraged Walt to be more ambitious. He decided to make a feature-length animated film: Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs was released in 1937 and was a huge hit. Disney followed this with other films, including Dumbo (1941) and Cinderella (1950).

In addition to producing animated films, Walt Disney decided that he wanted to create a park where families could spend the day together. His theme park Disneyland opened in California in 1955. In its first year, 3.6 million people visited Disneyland.

Walt Disney died in 1966, aged 65. Since his death, the Walt Disney Company has continued to produce popular films and there are now Disney theme parks in six locations around the world. Mickey Mouse – the symbol of the Walt Disney Company – remains America's most popular cartoon character.
