Jack and Marjorie Franklyn are well known in our town for their delicious bread. So it will be a sorry day next Saturday when they open their shop for the last time. "We've been very happy here," said Jack, "but both of us are over seventy now and it's hard work. Also, since the hypermarket opened last year, only a mile away, we've lost a few customers. People want low prices. It's only natural."
